SOUTH CAROLINA’S BEST WHISKEY

Olde Raleigh Distillery is in the business of making damn good whiskey. Olde Raleigh Whiskey Society is a unique, signature blended small-batch bourbon, rooted in 19th-century Scottish traditions. Their Flagship Brand is a robust, flavorful 93-proof bourbon blend with a perfect balance of smooth and complex flavors. Using the finest ingredients and barrels from coast to coast, the essence of Olde Raleigh Whiskey Society is created using corn, barley, rye and wheat. With notes of allspice, caramel, malt chocolate and oak undertones, you’ll see how they pack an exceptional experience into every bottle.

Eight Shires has spent the past seven years diligently researching the lost art of distillation in early America to remake the spirits of our forefathers.

BRINGING BACK AMERICA’S ORIGINAL SPIRIT

This award-winning limited edition single-malt whiskey is a reproduction of the first whiskey brought to America, possibly also made by the Jamestown settlers. 1608 is the pride and joy of Eight Shires and Jamestown Rediscovery; Hand-crafted to perfection using only the most period accurate ingredients and methods. Research and dedication was poured into bringing this special piece of history to life.

 BRANDY SHOT GLASS
This shot glass is a reproduction of a small beaker found at Jamestown. It was used for holding brandy or other spirits. Three-fourths of the original beaker was recovered. Four raspberry prints decorate its sides. These prints are believed to have been practical as well as decorative by helping the user grip the glass more firmly. This piece dates from the late 17th century.

“We feel bourbon should be approachable, an open door to learning fascinating history and exploring personal preferences.”

BOURBON AGED IN BRAZILIAN OAK

Amburana, also kown at “Brazilian oak,” is a commonly harvested wood of Brazil. It is most often used to craft luxury furniture, store essential oils, and as casks for Brazil’s national spirit, Cachaca. RD1’s cooperage uses a patented technique to honeycomb drill small holes into the Amburana staves, allowing more wood surface interaction with the Bourbon. After aging RD1 Kentucky Straight Bourbon for 4+ years, they insert the Amburana staves into the barrel. It doesn’t take long for Amburana’s character to beautifully influence the bourbon.

A DARING IRISH ORIGINAL

Triple Dog’s distillery is a fixture in the town of Dundalk, County Louth—the smallest in Ireland and affectionately known as “the Wee County.” It is a coastal county on the Irish Sea where whiskey making is not just about the distilling process, but also intertwined with the county’s history, folklore, and traditions passed down through generations of local whiskey artisans, a heritage dating back to the 16th century.

As Whiskey drinkers, we've been conditioned to think older is better. This is simply not true with American Whiskey.
